

Conservation Council's Inaugural Christmas Auction

The Conservation Council ACT Region's Inaugural Christmas Auction is live and open for bids until 8 December 2019.

This charity auction has a wonderful array of unique and environmentally-friendly items that will make excellent Christmas presents for friends and family, including books, bikes, scooters, clothes, and things for your home and garden. Those who are getting serious about sustainability should be interested in the Zero Mass Water Hydropanels (which make water from air) and the fully installed 5kW solar system with inverter from LECA.

Bookmark the Christmas Auction's Allbids page to browse the items or you can download the entire list here. Remember that many items can be delivered around Australia, to New Zealand or even further afield internationally - so send it on to friends and family further afield. Some of the deliveries will be carbon free, so that's really cool.

All money raised goes to the Conservation Council ACT Region's efforts to combat climate change and protect the ACT's environment.
